

Pacifica Council Approves Water District Proposal

By DON GRIERSON

After more than an hour's discussion, Pacifica councilmen Monday voted to approve Mayor Nick Gust's controversial proposal to consolidate the city and the North Coast County Water District into a single entity.

The proposal will now be submitted to the Local Agency Formation Commission, and must then be approved by the board of supervisors.

If officials of LAFCO and the supervisors approve the proposal, it will then be submitted to the voters of Pacifica, probably sometime next fall.

Monday's council action, which resulted in a split 3-2 vote, with Councilmen Rick Wallis and Harland Minshew opposing the proposal, followed lengthy studies and discussion of the controversial move first proposed by Mayor Gust more than a year ago.

Gust and other proponents of the merger have argued that maintaining a separate water district in the city results in a "duplication of personnel, equipment and functions," and that consolidation would result in a "more economic and efficient operation."

They also pointed out that consolidation of local agencies is the "recommended trend" today, and there are only three independent water districts remaining in San Mateo County. The other two cities served by separate districts are Belmont and Half Moon Bay. All other municipalities in the county have either consolidated water districts or are served by private companies, according to Gust.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said she feels "decreasing the number of taxing agencies is a desirable trend, and this merger has to come about sooner or later."

"I feel consolidation will result in better planning in capital expenditures, maintenance, and timing of projects, and overall land use planning will be improved," Mrs. McCarthy said.

Councilman Daniel Modena said he views consolidation of local agencies as "inevitable," and feels "now is the time to move ahead on this."

City Manager C. W. Masonheimer, who compiled the city report on the proposed consolidation, also recommended the merger.

Councilmen Wallis and Minshew and others opposed to the city "take over" of the water system argued that the move would result in the use of water revenues for purposes other than maintenance and operation of the water system, and the facilities would likely deteriorate as revenues were "siphoned off" for other city purposes.

"There should be no surplus funds in an operation of this sort," Wallis said. "Money raised through the water rates should be devoted entirely to the water system."

Wallis also said he feels the city would have to employ additional personnel in order to assume jurisdiction of the water system.

"We are already 'farming out' city work," he said, "and we would have to increase our staff immediately if the merger was carried out."

Both Wallis and Minshew questioned whether or not present city staff members could assume the specialized duties of the water district personnel.

However, City Engineer David Thompson expressed confidence that "any competent civil engineer could handle the hydraulic engineering of the water district with adequate research."

Ralph Barkey, a member of the water district board who appeared at Monday's meeting, was critical of the city's proposal to "spend $2,000 for an election which is not necessary," and said consolidation would "neither improve the quality nor reduce the cost of water service."

"It would, in fact, result in an increase in cost for the water service," Barkey said.

"District revenues are now used exclusively for water service," Barkey said. "If consolidation comes about, the water system will have to compete with other city projects for revenue."

Barkey and the council members opposing the proposed merger maintain that taxpayers would not be able to deduct from their income and property taxes the 34-cent assessment for (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Business Fee Change OK'd

Pacifica councilmen Monday adopted a new business license ordinance calling for fees based upon "gross annual receipts" in a move almost unanimously opposed by members of the city's chamber of commerce and other business leaders. The new ordinance calls for a graduated assessment on businesses in seven different classifications based upon total gross receipts.

Through the ordinance finally adopted Monday stipulates assessment rates considerably lower than those first proposed by City Finance Director John Grindrod several weeks ago. Chamber officials remained firm in their opposition to the measure.

According to C of C President William Hammer, most of the city's businessmen object to an "enforcement clause" in the ordinance which allows the city finance director to delve into the books of any business.

"This will tend to place the city in the continual light of suspicion any time there is a confidential leak from whatever source," the chamber president said.

"Keeping the confidential nature of the ordinance (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

As a result of rising operating costs coupled with an expected drop in assessed property values Daly City City Mgr. Edward Frank has asked the council to consider not less than a 12-cent tax increase on homeowners.

The recommended increase does not include any wage hikes or added fringe benefits that might affect city workers. Observers are estimating that the 1969-70 tax rate will top 25 cents needed to support the city budget.

Frank pointed out that some $3.9 million of assessed valuation was lost to the city as a result of the removal of household goods from the tax rolls by proposition 1-A — the property tax reform law passed by voters last year.

The city is now facing a year of inflation and rising costs with a smaller tax base than last year, Frank said.

"The inevitable result of this is an increase in taxes," he said.

Frank emphasized that an additional tax increase will be necessary to cover wage and fringe benefit adjustments.

Deputy Says Jail Break 'Predictable'

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The escape of four inmates from San Francisco's county jail in San Bruno, and the subsequent beating death of 92-year-old Christian Pedersen in his modest Pacifica home on Friday morning, were predictable, the president of the San Francisco Sheriff's Association stated Friday.

Sheriff's sergeant John Courtney, a veteran of more than eight years with the department, said jail officials knew "more than a week ago" that Joe Jojola would make an escape try along with some other inmates.

Jojola and Clarence Galindo, who escaped the jail with two others Wednesday night, were recaptured by a police posse yesterday morning hiding under their alleged victim's home on Winona Avenue in the Vallemar section of Pacifica.

Parking Ban

Campers, Boaters Win Moratorium

Campers and boat owners in Pacifica won a moratorium on enforcement of a city ordinance banning the parking of "recreational vehicles" in front and side yards Monday.

Mayor Nick Gust instructed City Manager C. W. Masonheimer to "work with the campers and boaters and the planning commission" and attempt to arrive at an "equitable solution" to the problem.

The city adopted an ordinance two years ago prohibiting the parking of sporting vehicles in driveways and side yards, but the ordinance was not rigidly enforced until a few weeks ago when citations were issued to several residents in violation of the regulations.

There are several hundred boats, trailers and camper owners in the city, and many of them have no place to park their vehicles, according to spokesmen for the group.

No time limit was specified for the "moratorium" approved informally Monday by the council.

Municipal Court Judge Lyle R. Edson of Redwood City; Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert E. Carey of Atherton; City Councilman Maurice K. Hamilton of San Bruno; Millbrae City Attorney Frank Plombo, a resident of Redwood City, and Robert D. Miller, a South San Francisco attorney, and a resident of Atherton.

Two of these men, it was reported, will be named to the positions being vacated by the retirement of Superior Court Judge Wayne R. Millington and the resignation of Municipal Court Judge Paul Hupf.

The five finalists were selected from among those who applied to Governor Reagan and have been submitted to a screening committee in San Mateo County and the California (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

$7,000 Coast Jewel Theft

Nearly $7,000 worth of jewelry and $250 in cash were taken from a Pacifica residence in a daytime burglary yesterday, police reported.

Mrs. Helen Bublak, 401 San Pablo Avenue, reported her home was burglarized while the family was away during the day.

Taken were four diamond rings, valued from $1,000 to $2,500, and the cash.

Police said the rings, two belonging to Mrs. Bublak and two heavy gold and diamond rings belonging to her husband, were removed from a jewelry box and drawers in the house.

Coast Murder Suspects To Court on Thursday

Victim's Wife Said In 'Fair Condition'

The preliminary hearing for two suspects in the Friday murder of an elderly Pacifica man Tuesday was continued until 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Municipal Court Judge Paul Hupf granted the continuance after William Schumacher, appearing in behalf of the defendants, escaped convicts Carlos Lopez and Clarence Galindo, declared their appointed attorney, Dennis Woodman, could not appear prior to that date.

Schumacher is the north county representative of the San Mateo County Bar Association, which has provided Woodman as attorney for the defendants.

The pair is expected to enter their pleas on Thursday.

They are accused in the death of 92-year-old Christian Pedersen after escaping from the San Francisco County Jail near San Bruno with two others last Wednesday.

The dead man's wife, 74, remains in Mary's Help Hospital, where she is being treated for head injuries, according to hospital spokesmen.

"Her condition is considered fair," a hospital spokesman disclosed Tuesday.

Mrs. Pedersen, 74, has been under treatment for head injuries in the hospital's intensive care unit since Pacifica police found the elderly couple brutally beaten and unconscious in their home at 165 Winona Avenue about 8 a.m. Friday.

Her husband, a former sea captain, died en route to the hospital.

Two escapees from the San Francisco County Jail at San Bruno have been arrested and charged with murder in connection with Pedersen's death.

Clarence Galindo, 18, was discovered hiding beneath the Pedersen residence by Pacifica Police Capt. Ray Shipley shortly after officers arrived at the scene.

The other suspect, Joe Jojola, 25, was discovered hiding in approximately the same location two hours later.

In the interim, Pacifica police and units from the sheriff's department and neighboring cities conducted a house-to-house search of the quiet Vallemar neighborhood after cordoning off an area of several blocks.

Police were called to the Pedersen home (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

San Bruno Seeks Halt To Escapes

Last Friday's murder of an elderly Pacifica man, allegedly by two escapees from the San Francisco County Jail that abuts San Bruno, has prompted councilmen of the "airport city" to urge positive steps be taken to prevent further escapes.

On the motion of George Corey, the council directed a "strongly worded" letter be sent to San Francisco officials, including Sheriff Matthew Carberry and Mayor Joe Alioto, insisting that the necessary action to prevent further jailbreaks be taken immediately.

The council expressed its "deep concern" in the matter.

The suspects are two of four inmates of the San Francisco facility (bonded on three sides by San Bruno and on the west by Pacifica) who fled the institution last Wednesday.

Two were apprehended Thursday after reportedly terrorizing coastside campers.

Councilman Corey noted the escapees—there have been nine this year so far—just as well could have fled east into San Bruno as west into Pacifica.

Little Action By Council In San Bruno

Three San Bruno City Councilmen wrapped up Monday's regular council meeting in short order, with at least two rarities. The first bit of unusual action involved the meeting length itself — 20 minutes from start to finish.

Secondly, it was one of those sessions at which none of San Bruno's citizenry had anything to say. At least if anyone did, they didn't stand up to be heard at the "public discussion" phase of the meeting.

Councilmen Maurice Hamilton and Karney Barbarian were absent — but that didn't have anything to do with the early adjournment, the Post was assured. For the same three councilmen kept everyone up until 11:20 at the last council session. Though business was slim, the council did:

—Refer a teen-ager's concern over the requirement by local restaurants that persons under 21 be accompanied by an adult after 10 p.m. to the chamber of commerce, in what appears to be one of the first "problems" for the new chamber executive (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Guilty Pleas By 2 Slayers Of Gunsmith

Matthew Loncaric and Donald Sheppard, accused of the February 18 mallet slaying of a San Bruno gunsmith, pleaded guilty of charges of first degree murder before Superior Judge Conrad B. Reisch in Redwood City Monday.

The defendants were scheduled to go to trial on the murder charge this morning.

Appearing with their attorneys William Field and William Doherty respectively, Loncaric and Sheppard entered their guilty pleas on condition they receive life sentences rather than being sent to the gas chamber.

Judge Reisch accepted the pleas on the basis, and Deputy District Attorney Robert Bishop stipulated to the same.

The court requested a presentence report and scheduled sentencing for July 8 at 9 a.m.

Loncaric, 27, of South San Francisco, and Sheppard, 22, of Pacifica, were arrested on the charge of murdering Orville Spork, 74, who was found dead in his gunshop behind his home at 290 East Avenue.

'Natural Death'

The WBRTD Slides Out of Existence

The West Bay Rapid Transit Authority slid out of existence Monday, with directors choosing to let it die a natural death June 30 without voting to dissolution.

However, the board expressed hope that the Board of Supervisors will approach the State Legislature to try and organize a suitable alternate plan.

Voters early this month turned down a proposed bus transit proposal as the first phase of an overall transit plan for the county. By virtue of the defeat, the transit authority goes out of business as of June 30.

Authority Chairman Howard Looney said that, in his conversations with the county's assemblymen, he had not been given a flat "no" to legislation for continuance of the district.

"Legislators would be happy to sit down and talk about extension," Looney stated.

However, authority member William Werder expressed the opinion that a 4% to 1 vote against the transit proposal "shows little less than enthusiasm, to say the least."

Frank Plombo, attorney for the district, suggested the district might consider formation of a committee, on authority of the Board of Supervisors, to negotiate with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to try formation of a new district with a new type of format.

Member James Fitzgerald declared, "This puts the ball back in the supervisors' lap."

Mrs. Jean Fessler, a member of the authority and of the Board of Supervisors, contended it would be important to get the opinions of the city councils in (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Support for San Mateo County's Unions Expressed By D.C. Council

The Daly City council Monday came out in strong support of San Mateo County unions working at the International Airport.

San Francisco unions have been waging a jurisdictional battle with unions at the busy airport and San Francisco supervisors have recently backed their move.

Prompted by Daly City mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett, the council unanimously passed a lengthy resolution against the San Francisco grab while at the same time slapping the supervisors and Mayor Joseph Alioto for their stand.

Daly City fears if the Plumbers and Pipefitters union succeeds in the power grab "it won't be long before other trades follow."

Councilman Edward J. Dennis said the resolution was "in the interest of saving jobs in our county and that's why I'm voting for it."

"It appears that the resolution

the water district now listed on tax receipts.

"This assessment would be represented as part of the water rates under city jurisdiction," Barkey said.

All members of the council agreed Monday that the district is operating efficiently under its present jurisdiction, and emphasized that they had no criticism of the board and staff.

As presently constituted, the water district is a separate political entity, governed by five elected directors.

The district is regulated by state laws governing county water districts, and is under the direct regulation of the legislature.

Under state law, all money received by the district must be used for needed water improvements and operational costs. Excess monies over and above the amounts needed for water projects must be returned to the taxpayers of the district by lowering either the tax rate or the water rate, according to Harlan Hill, general manager of the water district.

Russell F. Conroy is president of the board of directors. Other board members are F. Ansel Minshew, vice president; Gino J. Ottomello, Barkey and George H. Farrell.

The district is presently operated with a staff of 20 employees. The North Coast County Water District pre-dates the City of Pacifica as a political jurisdiction, having been formed in 1944 by residents of the area. Pacifica was incorporated in 1957.

Bus Routes Are Extended In Daly City

An increase in the Northgate Transit Company's service to the Serramonte Shopping Center, effective June 30, was announced this week.

The Daly City firm will step up the service on the Westlake and St. Francis Heights routes on weekdays and Saturdays, except holidays, a company spokesman explained.

Revised scheduling: St. Francis Heights, via Westlake — Beginning at 6:20 a.m., from Templeton and Mission, every 20 minutes until 9 a.m.; every 30 minutes from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; every 20 minutes from 2 to 6:30 p.m.; night service, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock; Saturdays, beginning at 7 a.m.; Sundays, no change.

Westlake, via St. Francis Heights — Beginning at 6:30 a.m., from Templeton and Mission, every 20 minutes until 8:30 a.m.; every 30 minutes from 8:30 a.m. to 1:45 p.m.; every 20 minutes from 2:10 to 6:30 p.m.; night service, 7, 8 and 9; Saturdays, beginning at 7:15 a.m.; Sundays, no change.

ture of a business's books is a necessary business practice." "Of 77 businessmen polled, 60 preferred the flat rate formula," Johns said. "Only seven favored the gross receipts, procedure, and two recommended a third system."

Under the new procedure, described as a "more equitable system" by the finance director, businesses in the lowest classification will be assessed 15 cents per each $1,000 of gross annual receipts, with a minimum fee of $30.

Businesses in the highest classification, land developers and a variety of professional offices, will be assessed at a rate of 50 cents per $1,000 of gross receipts, with a minimum fee of $75.

Some businesses will pay a smaller fee under the new revisions than under the flat rate assessment, according to members of the council.

The new ordinance amendment represents the first major change in the business license regulations since the city was incorporated 11 years ago.

Four members of the council voted to approve the new ordinance. Councilman Harland Minshew abstained.

— were recaptured within hours after their escape.

Previously, Jojola was prevented from fleeing the jail when a guard spotted the convict prying apart the window bars of his cell. He had already smashed away the thick glass, Courtney said.

Instead of moving Jojola to a maximum security cell, chief deputy Thomas J. Burns ordered the convict transferred to a fifth floor cell.

"All Jojola had to do was tie another sheet together to reach the ground," Courtney said.

Jojola was serving a one year sentence for armed robbery, Galindo a lesser charge of petty theft.

"Both the sheriff (Matthew Carberry) and our Under-sheriff (Francis J. Smith) have pictured the San Bruno jail as a house for itinerant drunks. Nothing could be farther from the truth," Courtney explained.

He said the jail, designed to hold a maximum of 600 inmates and now overcrowded with about 750, contains a mixture of robbers, drunks, homosexuals and murderers.

To handle this mob the San Bruno jail has only 30 men working in shifts. Many are untrained in prison security and procedures and some are not allowed to carry a gun.

On the night of the latest breakout (there has been about nine this year already) one "regular" deputy was on duty along with four "nonregular" deputies.

Courtney said the "nonregulars" were "rank amateurs" who are not allowed to carry a weapon and have not taken even a civil examination.

To add to this confusion the organization of the jail is such that the deputies with the least experience are put on duty during the critical escape periods — between 9 p.m. and dawn, Courtney disclosed.

He suggested the entire system be revamped and a tough training course for all deputies assigned to the prison system be immediately started (it's long overdue) and rigid new policies for handling inmates be drawn up.

The Sheriff's Association has sent numerous letters to Carberry warning him of the present shortcomings at the jail, "but to date he has not answered even one letter," Courtney said.

"I certainly can't blame residents of the San Bruno jail area for being concerned about this facility) they are completely justified," he said.

Skyline Funding Bill Passes, Sent to Reagan

Legislation designed to re-allocate state funds for construction at Skyline College in San Mateo County passed the Senate and was sent to Governor Reagan's desk for action. The bill, AB 1713, co-authored by Assemblymen Ryan (D-South San Francisco) and Britschgi (R-Redwood City) was guided on the Senate side by State Senator Richard J. Dolwig (R-San Mateo County).

Assembly Bill 1173 in essence allows the use of State Entitlements 1, 2, and 3 on a collective basis to accommodate the Skyline College project, rather than the use of these entitlements on the specific basis for a portion of the project. Because the entitlements concerned are covered by different budget acts, legislation was necessary to allow the entitlement to cover the specific projects on a comprehensive basis. This has been done in the past with other colleges participating in the program.

The bill provides for the immediate use of $635,000. The funds will be used to construct basic essential items at Skyline College, such as:

1. water system
2. site lighting
3. physical education courts and fields
4. paved walkways
5. erosion control

Dolwig in explaining the bill stated that the measure was "urgently needed by the college to complete construction of necessary facilities in order to insure a September opening. The bill does not make an actual new appropriation, but rather redefines the uses for a 1967 appropriations. to Skyline College."

ersen residence Friday after a neighbor of the elderly couple, Mrs. Clare Pryor, 160 Winona, peered through a window and spotted a "strange man" sitting at the former sea captain's desk.

Residents of the Vallemar neighborhood had been on edge since four prisoners escaped from the San Bruno jail last Wednesday.

Two of the escapees, John H. Barnhart, 27 and Michael Squires, 21, were apprehended in a wooded area at the easterly end of the Vallemar canyon Tuesday after they allegedly forced four teen-age boys to turn over a motorcycle at knifepoint.

Police had alerted Vallemar residents of the possibility that the other two escapees might be in the neighborhood.

The four prisoners escaped from a fourth floor tier at the jail on Wednesday by tying blankets and sheets together and lowering themselves to the ground.

When captured Friday, Jojola and Galindo were wearing clothes belonging to the elderly Pedersen, according to police.

Both the men surrendered meekly when approached by police.

More than 30 officers were involved in the brief manhunt for Jojola, according to spokesmen for the Pacifica department.

Galindo was serving a sentence for petty theft and Jojola had seven months remaining to serve on a sentence for armed robbery when they escaped from the jail.

Police said they apparently entered the Pedersen residence about midnight Thursday in search of food and clothing. A rear door of the house was smashed open.

Pedersen, an old time seafarer whose career began in 1894, worked himself up from an apprentice seaman on a whaling ship to captain of a number of vessels, sailing in arctic waters for nearly 50 years.

She also maintained that the County Council of Mayors "should be a key in trying to solve the (transit) problem."

Member Michael DeBernardi concurred with the idea of "going out of existence," but expressed the concern that if someone in the county doesn't attempt to solve the county's transit problems "someone else will."

He urged that the county keep its state legislators informed of conditions relative to rapid transit needs.

No action was taken on a motion to dissolve the authority after Pnombo said that it would just "die" automatically.

Bruno Teamster Held in Gun Threat

A San Bruno teamster, 21-year-old Kenneth M. Shriver was arrested Sunday morning, allegedly after brandishing a 12-gauge shotgun and threatening to shoot his father, who lives in Portland, Ore.

Shriver was charged with disturbing the peace and exhibiting a firearm in a rude and threatening manner, San Bruno police said.

City patrolmen Tom Stewart and Terry Johnson responded to a 8:20 a.m. complaint, at 864 Mills Avenue.

Upon their arrival, the two officers were met by Shriver's wife, Pamela, who told them her husband had a gun.

At the same time, the patrolmen saw Shriver walking toward them. He was carrying a shotgun, they said.

The patrolmen drove up to him then got out of the car with their own weapons drawn.

A spokesman for the police department said Shriver "appeared oblivious" to the fact they were policemen and said to Patrolman Johnson, "Get out of my way. I'm going to shoot my father!"

Shriver started to walk past Stewart and Johnson, but one of the patrolmen grabbed the suspect, threw him to the ground and disarmed him.

The man's "rights" were read him, but the suspect indicated, police said, that he neither "understood" nor "cared" about them; he just wanted to shoot his father.

After subduing the man, the patrolmen found a live shell in the chamber of the shotgun, they said.

He kept repeating, police said, that he didn't mean harm to anyone but his father.

However, it was learned later that his father lived in Portland, Ore.

Bocci Ball For Colma Defended

Jefferson Elementary School District Board Chairman Ed Tomasello June 17 defended the venerable sport of bocci ball from an attack by an irate citizen who accused the board of wasting district funds on the court at Colma Intermediate School.

Mrs. Reva Krips questioned whether or not the district should have invested in the new bocci ball court "when we need more funds for the remedial reading program."

Tomasello explained that the court, though located on school property, was paid for by the city's recreation department.

"This is something we have needed for a long time," the board chairman said. "Bocci ball is an excellent recreation activity for handicapped children and others who cannot participate in more vigorous sports."

Woman Held In Home Blaze

A 34-year-old Daly City woman who told firemen she set her own home ablaze Sunday was being held for observation at San Mateo County General Hospital.

Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander said Mrs. Sylvia Rouge of 570 Hillside Boulevard, rushed up to him as flames and smoke poured from the structure, yelling, "Don't put the fire out. Don't put the fire out!"

Alexander said, "Do you live here?"

"I set the place on fire," Mrs. Rouge assertedly replied, "I want it to burn!"

Alexander said Mrs. Rouge lived at the Hillside residence with her three children and her mother.

Shortly before 9 p.m., Alexander said in reconstructing the incident, the suspect apparently began pouring gasoline over the floor and furnishings in the living room, kitchen, and the basement.

Then it was torched, he said. Apparently no one else was in the home at the time, when the piano, the television set and the carpeting in the living room, and the hallway and kitchen floors, were "doused."

"When I got there," Alexander recalled, "flames were coming out of the front of the building, from the living room."

He said the garage door was open and "I could see it burning over in the corner, and of course, the living room and kitchen upstairs."

Alexander described the blaze in the living room particularly as "very hot," because gasoline was used, he said, in starting it.

Though the fire was widespread upstairs, the only deep charring was in the basement walls, Alexander said.

He estimated damage to contents at $3,000 and to the structure at $1,000.

Alexander said he did not know the whereabouts of the woman's three children.

However, Mrs. Rouge's mother, he said, was sitting in a car with her when the battalion chief arrived to check out the street box alarm.

The woman got out of the car, rushed up to Alexander, urged him not to extinguish the blaze and assertedly admitted she had set it, according to Alexander.

Neighbors told him, Alexander noted, that the woman had been arguing with some man for a portion of the day. There was an unconfirmed report that the woman's three children had left with a man in a car shortly before the fire was discovered, Alexander said.

Gym Break; 3 Arrested

Three Daly City youths were arrested Saturday night shortly after they allegedly broke into the Westmoor High School gym.

Police said the trio used a screwdriver to force open the gym doors and apparently triggered a silent burglar alarm in the process.

Within minutes, officers Robert Dean and Russell Cunningham arrived on the scene and arrested George Ruano, 18, of 780 Beechwood; Robert Ceinar, 18, of 272 Westridge, and a 17-year-old juvenile.

They Want Out Of School Areas

A group of Portola Highlands and Pacific Heights residents in San Bruno, wanting to become fully aligned with the "airport city," have begun formation of a large committee to work toward disannexation from two "outside" school districts.

According to Mrs. Carol Livengood, president of the Pacific Heights Association, and who chaired the meeting last week at the Portola School, a committee made up of some 40 to 50 persons will spearhead a campaign to disannex the two tracts from the Laguna Salada Elementary School District of Pacifica and the Jefferson Union High School District of Daly City and Pacifica.

"The people made a decision on which city they wanted to be identified with," explained Mrs. Livengood.

Residents of the two areas held a meeting in late May to hear from representatives of Laguna Salada, Jefferson, San Bruno Park Elementary and San Mateo Unified High School Districts on the subject.

Portola and Pacific Heights leaders will seek inclusion into the San Bruno and San Mateo districts, both of which serve all the other areas in San Bruno.

Mrs. Livengood said another meeting to discuss further the area's "desire to belong totally and wholly to the City of San Bruno" will be scheduled within the "next two or three weeks."

She said the residents of the areas are aware the drive will take at least a "year or two."

MORTARMAN

PLEIKU, VIETNAM — Army Private First Class Paul E. Carter, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark D. Carter, 352 Avalon Drive, South San Francisco, was assigned May 16 to the 4th Infantry Division near Pleiku, Vietnam, as a mortarmen.

D.C. Driver Is Arrested In San Bruno

A 57-year-old Daly City truck driver was arrested by San Bruno police Thursday, charged with possession of fraudulent documents, with intent to pass.

Police said Gilbert Charles Rumbell, who gave his address as 361 Peoria Street, Daly City, was taken into custody after allegedly attempting to write a check for $30 on a counter check at the JayVee store.

Authorities said they found five nearly completed checks in the suspect's possession. Police said they checked with the Millbrae bank from which the checks apparently came, but officials there said Rumbell had no account there.

Two days ago, the police had received a report of a man attempting to pass a check at a floral shop. Another report came in at 11:24 a.m. Thursday from the San Bruno Florist Shop on San Mateo Avenue.

Police were told that a man had wanted to cash a counter check there, but his request was denied.

He went, then, to the Peacock House of Fine Gifts, where he assertedly filled in the name of the store on a check otherwise completed, police said.

The man went next to the JayVee store, where personnel had been alerted to the suspect's presence in the area.

Limited Jeff Bus Proposal

'Convenience Of District'

Administrators of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City June 17 recommended that the district's present abbreviated transportation service be continued on the current basis for another year.

If board members approve the busing proposal of Superintendent Frank Greenwood and the district staff, only those children who are being bussed "at the convenience of the district" will be provided with free transportation.

The transportation service was reduced last year as an economy measure, after voters failed to approve a tax rate increase.

Under the proposed schedule, the following children would be provided with district transportation:

Those attending Abraham Lincoln and Benjamin Franklin schools who reside west of Skyline and south of Westmoor Boulevard; Christopher Columbus students who live west of Skyline; Colma K-6 School students who reside in the cemetery area; Colma Intermediate students from the Crocker-Pershing School area;

Fernando Rivera students from the Franklin D. Roosevelt and Christopher Columbus School areas; Franklin D. Roosevelt students who reside north of Westmoor Boulevard; Woodrow Wilson School "overload" students who attend Jefferson, M. Pauline Brown and Westlake schools, and students from the cemetery area who attend Jefferson.

Five Students Awarded CSM Scholarships

Five College of San Mateo students have been awarded CSM Patrons Association scholarships for next year, Mrs. Bertram Nicholls, president, announced.

One of the awards, to Patricia A. McKenzie, 310 Elder Avenue, Millbrae, was presented in the memory of Mrs. C. N. Underwood, an officer of the association, who died last summer.

Mrs. Underwood, active in P-TA work in the San Mateo area for more than 30 years, was the first person from 17th District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., ever to receive a national P-TA honorary life membership.

Miss McKenzie, 19, will start her sophomore year at CSM in September. She intends to become a history teacher.

Other recipients of Patrons scholarships are:

Gregg F. Beeman, 19, 200 Bonita Avenue, Pacifica, a psychology major who will return to CSM for his second year in the fall.

Lyndon Greene, 20, 115 Anita Road, Burlingame, transferring to the American University in Washington, D.C., to specialize in the study of international law. During his two years at CSM, he was twice a delegate to the Model United Nations.

John E. Kennedy III, 22, San Francisco, transferring to University of California, Berkeley, to prepare for a career as a mathematics teacher.

Judy Low, 18, 722 Tilton Avenue, San Mateo, a liberal arts major and honor student who served as a volunteer tutor in the Readiness Program for minority students during her freshman year at CSM.

Jefferson High Asks County To Control Blind Program

The Jefferson Union High School District June 17 decided to request San Mateo County assume jurisdiction of a program for the visually handicapped.

Jefferson Elementary School District has administered the program in the past, but urged the high school district take it over because enrollment at the elementary level will dwindle to one next year.

Mrs. Marian Wickham, a brailist for district schools and a mother of one of seven children who attend classes in the high school district, reiterated her opposition to non-local administration of the program.

Dr. Floyd Gonella, Jefferson High School District educational services director spelled out the terms that a qualified teacher be ready to meet the students in September, that sufficient materials and a proper place to study be made available at the schools.

"These are necessary, definite requirements that must be provided," Dr. Gonella pointed out.

His recommendations concerning the program:

1—The board adopt a co-operative program with the County of San Mateo that would provide the "best possible service to the district."

2—The exact details of this co-operative program presented at a meeting July 1.

3—That we immediately begin to provide additional space for the braille library and the brailist.

4—Order necessary materials for opening of school in September.

5—Immediately seek facilities and location for student to be able to have a place to work

County Braces for Invasion By San Francisco Unions

Fifty civic and labor leaders pledged last week to join in resisting an "invasion" by San Francisco unions.

Each agreed to do whatever was in his power to oppose the take-over of labor contracts at San Francisco International Airport by San Francisco-based unions as suggested in a resolution approved in March by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

Civic leaders including San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Chairman Robert St. Clair, San Mateo Mayor Hugh Wayne, Mayor Lewis Grasburger of Millbrae, Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust, San Carlos Mayor Ernest Nackord, San Bruno Mayor Neil Christal, Daly City Mayor "Bud" Lyett, and San Mateo Councilman John Murray, agreed to such resistance.

So did representatives of unions representing thousands of San Mateo County residents who are members of the Plumbers, Electrical Workers, Carpenters, Operating Engineers, and Sheetmetal Workers unions, and other construction trades.

Target of the resistance was explained by Sam Abruscato, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council of San Mateo County and business manager of the Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, Local 467.

Abruscato said San Francisco-based Plumbers Union Local 38, with the aid of Mayor Alioto and the San Francisco supervisors, is trying to take over jurisdiction of plumbers working at San Francisco International Airport.

Plumbers now working at the airport are members of local unions, since the airport is within San Mateo County. Union jurisdiction has never depended upon ownership, but always on location, Abruscato pointed out.

If the San Francisco Plumbers' Union is allowed this takeover, he said, it will be jobs taken away from San Mateo County workmen.

The resolution by the San Francisco supervisors, ignoring the historic fact that San Mateo County unions have had jurisdiction over labor contracts within the county since 1906, urges the international headquarters of the plumbers' union to place the San Francisco-based local in charge.

"Ordinarily the governmental agencies would not interfere," said St. Clair, who pushed an opposition resolution through the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, "but in this case we bent over backwards to do so."

He urged the mayors to seek similar actions by their own city councils, and suggested everyone present should contact state legislators to take a stand.

Two Rescue Man From Blazing Room

Two unidentified men awakened 28-year-old Samuel D. Williams in the burning bedroom of his South San Francisco home early Friday, then apparently slipped away from the scene as flames roared out a broken window.

South San Francisco fire officials said the bedroom of the Williams' home at 1254 Hiller Avenue was pretty well ruined. No one was injured in the blaze, reported to firemen at 5:45 a.m. by a woman motorist enroute to work.

A fire department spokesman said Williams told them he had returned home at 3 a.m., went to bed, and was awakened by two men, neither of whom he knew.

The men were not found later by either fire officials or Williams. Apparently they were passersby, firemen said. Williams was alone in the house at the time. Firemen did not know where his wife and two daughters were.

In addition to destroying furnishings and clothing, the fire charred the walls and ceiling of the bedroom and caused smoke

Colma, Broadmoor May Lose Library

Daly City has provided library service to Colma, unincorporated Colma and Broadmoor for the past seven years, and more recently to residents of the Fairmont section of Pacifica, under a contract with the county.

But that service may end on June 30 unless the county agrees to revise the contract. According to assistant city manager Dave Rowe, the joint agreement was good when it was first drawn up in 1962 but "times have changed."

What really upsets Daly City officials is the fact that the county levies a library tax of some 20 cents in the Colma area and collects upwards of $31,000 per year.

Rowe figures his city gets less than $18,000 back from the county, with the unused portion of the tax going into the county-wide general library fund.

In the past seven years, service provided by the Daly City libraries to out-of-town readers has increased, while county provided services to the city continue to go down, according to Rowe.

Three months ago, Daly City councilmen ordered the agreement terminated unless the county agreed on providing the city with increased services. Neither side has given in on the matter yet.

About the only concession the county has thus far made in the current dispute is to provide a bookmobile three hours a week. This would be done after more than 7,000 books, now being distributed to readers through the Daly City library system, are removed.

The county estimates the operating costs of the bookmobile at some $10,400 per year—or approximately $66.60 per hour.

Daly City library supervisor Samuel Chandler this week was instructed to continue negotiating with the county until the June deadline.

Seven libraries are now operated by the county. As in the case of the Daly City agreement (of providing

Curious Girl Accidentally Shot By Gun

A young Daly City girl who wanted to know how it felt to fire a "real" gun ended up in St. Luke's Hospital after she accidentally shot herself in the right shoulder Wednesday.

Sharon Aguilar, 14, was in the backyard of her home talking with her brother and several other youth about 3 p.m. when one of the boys produced a .25 caliber automatic, police said.

According to reports, the victim said she had never fired a gun before and the unidentified youth handed her the weapon.

As the girl fired a shot into the air, the gun fell to the ground and discharged again, hitting her in the right shoulder.

The girl was rushed to St. Luke's by her parents. Surgery to remove the slug was scheduled for Thursday, a spokesman said.

Trustees Refuse Meeting

Trustees of the South San Francisco Unified School District this week denied a request from the district negotiating council for an immediate "meet and confer" session to discuss teacher contracts for the 1969-70 school year.

The board members, in effect, refused to offer a counter proposal to the teachers' proposal for next year's contract, according to Negotiating Council Chairman Robert Damico.

Damico said the teacher groups represented on the negotiating council, including the California Teachers' Association, "can be expected to take further steps over the district's refusal to negotiate in good faith."

The CTA chapter has already imposed local sanctions against the district, and is now seeking Bay Area and state-wide sanctions, the teacher leader said.

The district teachers had hoped to complete contract negotiations before the end of the present school year "in order that we might leave for the

Chemicals Are Used in Attack

A 31-year-old Daly City woman was sprayed in the face with a chemical substance as she walked home shortly after 1 a.m. Wednesday and robbed of 20 cents.

The victim, Geraldine Williams, told police two youths approached her at the corner of Hillcrest and Santa Barbara Streets, squirted an unknown substance from an aerosol can into her eyes.

YW Outlines Summer Session Class Plans

The summer session for YWCA classes starts immediately.

However, there is still time for interested people to register.

The San Mateo YWCA limits enrollment in their classes, therefore giving each student more individual attention. It feels that anyone who is interested enough to spend their time in a class should gain something from it. Therefore, they limit their class enrollment and charge low fees, according to the director Justine Williams.

Class fees are prorated to allow for vacations.

Starting this session will be: Polynesian Dance at Carlton Corners Clubhouse, San Bruno. Bridge for Beginners and Polynesian Dance at the Daly City War Memorial Building, Daly City.

Golf for Beginners and Continuation Golf, Harding Park Golf Course, Daly City. Golf Course, Daly City. Sharp Park Library Community Room, Pacifica. Organ 1A, Organ 1, and Piano 1, Sherman Clay, Stonestown Shopping Center.

Bridge Club and Chinese Cookery, Westlake Community Baptist Church, Daly City.

Nursery Sets Class Sessions

The San Mateo YWCA announced that their Widge World Nursery would hold its first class on July 9.

Orientation for the Nursery would be at 7:30 p.m. at the Westlake Lutheran Church, 222 Avalon, Daly City, on July 8.

With schools out for the summer, little children find it hard sometimes to compete with the older ones and need a world they can call their own.

The is what the Widge World has to offer. Trained teachers help them to discover new things and to become more aware of the old. Children are taught to be self-reliant, to enjoy other people's company, and to develop in many ways.

Classes are held for two through five-year-old children. They meet on Mondays from 9:30 to 11 a.m. for 2-year-olds and on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays from 9:30 to noon for 3 to 5-year-olds.

On Tuesdays Creative Group Play is offered to boys and

'Youth Over-Stimulated' In the Problem-World

Mariquita Santos is 18 years old, perky, intelligent and, according to her own definition, a revolutionary thinker who believes in non-revolutionary tactics.

What makes so many of this year's graduates "revolutionaries" of one type or another? Marty has some definite ideas about the whys and wherefores of the problem, and basic among her theories is the feeling that we live in a world so filled with problems, challenging situations and potential dangers that all youth are being over-stimulated.

In the speech she delivered at Oceana High School's graduation ceremony, Marty observed, "The younger generation has never known a world that did not bristle with overwhelming stimulation, and was not always in ferment."

THE WEIGHT of problems and the overwhelming nature of "things" have caused a dehumanization of the human spirit which Marty, and others in her age group find intolerable.

"With the age of technology rapidly advancing, the human element is becoming less utilized and not enough emphasis is placed on the individual who cries and dies because of a lack of food and loving concern; the individual who sees no sense of war yet, for love of country and what it stands for (not necessarily what it presently is, he kills, the individual who through no fault of his, was born with a color other than white; the individual who ends up being a statistic and ceases to exist," Mariquita explains.

Compounding the tragedy for the students is the attitude of many adults who look down on the young discontents with dismay.

"It seems tragic to me that society chooses to look down on young people with dismay, equating the quest for social justice and such manifestations as legitimate student protests with juvenile delinquency, teenage vandalism, illegitimacy, venereal disease and youthful abuse of drugs and alcohol.

"Such behavior by society represents serious, even dangerous national problems and many youngsters will be scarred permanently by irresponsible beliefs. But society tends to label all vigorously independent behavior as delinquent and seems convinced that these misbehaving kids either have deep seated character disorders or are emotionally disturbed.

"A good number of the young people are irresponsible youths who refuse to think and to listen. But there is a percentage that does not display characteristics which constitute emotional disturbance or serious character defects. These youths, unruly though some may be, are searching stubbornly for a workable and meaningful identity that will lead them to maturity in the style of the second half of the twentieth century," Marty continued.

MANY OF MARTY'S thoughts and conclusions are similar to those voiced by many student demonstrators but her approach has a cool headedness about it that assures others that she is thinking for herself and will not be swept along, irrationally, with the group which feels the end justifies the use of any means.

She sees that much of the revolutionary thinking could lead the less stable to be foolish and dangerous however, she is quick to point out that youth is searching, it is taking the old values systems and trying to give them new form, new expression, and new intensity personal meanings that require deep commitment.

"Youth is not trying to escape or indulge in empty rebellion, but to seek a more meaningful life for themselves and all of society," Marty said.

Mariquita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gil C. Santos of Pacifica and the sister of Anthony, 17; Edmund, 13; and Rosie, 9. She was born on the island of Guam and has been in this area for six years. She attended Sharp Park and Fairmont Elementary schools before enrolling in Oceana where she developed a passion for political science and Spanish.

She served one term as student body secretary and another as vice president of the student body. In the fall of her junior year she was class vice president and in the spring semester she was class secretary. In addition she was president of the Spanish Club, 1967-1968; a member and cadet teacher in the Future Teachers of America, the vice-president and past historian of the California Scholarship Federation.

MARTY WAS the high school representative on the Pacifica Congress for Community Progress and the past co-chairman and the present chairman of Pacifica's Danny Thomas Teenagers' March to aid children suffering from Leukemia.

This past February Marty attended the Model United Nations session held in Berkeley and represented the Democratic Republic of the Congo (Congo Kinshasa). She represented Oceana at the Bank of America competition and the GEMCO Scholarship Award Competition and she represented her school at the California Association of Student Councils meeting held at Mercy High in Burlingame.

In September Marty will attend the University of San Francisco where she will major in political science and minor in Spanish.

"The University of San Francisco has yet to be hit with campus discontent and the administration is to be commended. I am looking forward to attending USF and furthering my education there while, at the same time, keeping in close touch with society," she explained.

An appreciation of the work done by school administrators and faculty is evidenced in Marty's comments about her high school years.

"It's not high school that I miss, but the people associated with it. Without these people, high school would have been fruitless. The people I'm talking about are the teachers and administration. They have done so much and more often than not, their work has gone unappreciated," she noted.

AMONG THOSE she singled out for special commendation were Dr. Robert Watt, Mrs. Lois Jones and Al Butler along with her favorite teacher, Richard A. Colon.

About Colon, Marty concluded, "He has helped me to achieve confidence in myself as an individual. Aside from being a superb teacher, he aided me in my earlier years of high school and guided me in intellectual development."

Pacifica Jaycees Install Directors

At a recent installation dinner of the Pacifica Jaycees, District Governor William Prince, swore in the new Board of Directors for the fiscal year 1969-1970.

The inauguration of Jaycee officers, attended by nearly 75 members, wives and family, was held at Russo's restaurant in San Bruno. A champagne cocktail party for the incoming officers and chairman preceded the festive evening at president-elect William Palmrose's in Pacifica.

Later that evening newly installed vice president John Plato and his wife, Carol, held an impromptu party at their home for those who attended the dinner, which lasted to the early hours of the morning.

The installation of the eight new officers was climaxed by the presentation of the Jaycee Exhausted Rooster Award to retiring president E. John Drew.

The award is traditionally given to members who have reached the 36 age limit and to outgoing presidents. However, according to the Jaycee Exuberant Gizzard — a very appropriate title — Fred Goddard, this is the first time the Pacifica Jaycees have so honored a past president.

Unknown to the chosen recipient, a rooster — feathers and all — is prepared by stuffing it with whipped cream and the much honored Exhausted Rooster pin.

The ceremony begins when the Exuberant Gizzard, appropriately attired and carrying the rooster on a large silver platter, leads his five assistants among the audience singing course after course of "Sweet Violets." As the group weaves throughout the on-lookers, Jaycee members leave their seats and join the procession. This ritual continues until everyone has been asked to join in except the "winner" of the rooster.

In order to obtain the cherished pin, the Exhausted Rooster must extract it from the cavity of the rooster, amongst the whipped cream — with his teeth! If the participant seems reluctant to proceed, the Exuberant Gizzard and his five husky assistants provide gentle but firm assistance.

Numerous presidential awards for outstanding service or achievement during the past year were presented by John Drew.

The highest Jaycee award, Key Man of the Year, went to the newly installed president, Bill "Sweet William" Palmrose. His wife, Betty, was presented with the complimentary Key Man necklace for her contribution of patience and understanding during the preceding year.

Other equally significant presentations were made to Ken Addelman for being the Outstanding Officer as External Vice President during the year 1968-1969. Dennis King, Past President and Chairman of the Board received a trophy for Outstanding Chairman for his work on Battle of the Bands 1969.

Fred Goddard and John Williams shared the award for Most Enthusiastic Jaycee of the Year.

On a lighter note, Richard McLain was presented with a special plaque for his "political efforts" in the recent Jaycee election of governor for District 15.

Past State Director, John Iamario also received a special presidential award in the form of a large plaque.

The Jaycettes, an organization for wives of the Jaycees, shared the installation ceremonies. Donna Drew was installed as the new president, Judy Lemler as first vice president, Joan McLain as second vice president. The new secretary is Adrienne Riewerts and treasurer Mary Williams.

The line-up of new officers of the Pacifica Jaycees for the fiscal year 1969-1970 beginning July 1 is William Palmrose, president. Bill, 29, is a past director and two-year member of the Pacifica Jaycees.

He lives with his wife Betty in Linda Mar and has three boys, seven, four, and a new arrival, eight months. "Sweet William" as he is affectionately known by his close friends is Internal vice president is Robert Wiseman, 31, who is single and a new resident to the city of Pacifica.

Bob moved here from Nevada early this year and joined the Pacifica Jaycees after serving in the Las Vegas Jaycees for nearly seven years. He is a sales representative for the Data Link Corporation on the Peninsula.

Twenty-eight year old John Plato, who lives with his wife, Carol and two children in Park Pacifica is the new external vice president.

John, a past Jaycee director, works as a supervisor for Pacific Telephone in San Francisco and has been a member of the Jaycees for almost two years.

The office of state director was filled by Charles Pasternak, 30, a Jaycee of less than six months. Chuck, who works for Allstate Insurance, lives in Westlake with his wife Margie and seven children.

Jack Laskey who was re-elected treasurer has five children, two boys and three girls, and lives in Fairmont. Jack, 34, is the manager of Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Company in Pacifica.

William Damron, 29, served for three months as secretary in the past year to fill a vacancy and was re-elected to serve a full term of office. Bill, a resident of Linda Mar, has two boys, a girl and a wife, Caroline. He is a Supervisor for the U.S. Post Office and works in San Francisco.

John Williams with a wife Mary and five children live in Linda Mar. He is a thirty-one year-old salesman for Sreckels Dairy and is the new external Jaycee director.

The internal directorship was filled by Richard McLain, 28, who lives in Linda Mar with his wife and two girls. Rich, a Pacifica Jaycee member for more than five years, is a past vice president.

Youth Play Group Seeks New Dates

The Children's Court Players, a Pacifica group of 15 eight to 14-year-olds, are taking the theater on road.

Do you have a birthday party for your son or daughter coming up soon and no idea of what to do?

Or how about a fund-raising activity to your club or girl scout troupe?

The Children's Court Players might be the answer.

Through the summer, the Children's Court Players will be accepting reservation to perform one of their four shows at playgrounds, for club events and private parties.

The shows will include "Beauty and the Beast"; "Taming of the Shrew"; "Puss 'n Boots"; and a Puppet show.

Director Inelle Lambert promised that "with the fine group of performers we have in rehearsal now, every show is bound to be a fine entertainment experience."

Each of the 15 players is able to play the role of any one character in a production and to function as a crew for any performance, she said.

The group needs no special location in which to perform. A back yard, a school cafeteria or a family room in a home; any one will work. The players come equipped with all the necessary costumes and equipment for a production.

Additional information and reservation materials may be obtained by contacting the Park, Beach and Recreation Department, 170 Santa Maria Avenue, Pacifica.

South City Home For Newlyweds

Janet Avitable and Hobby D. Terranova were married at 2 p.m. Saturday at Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in Burlingame. White and pink blossoms set the bridal theme for the ceremony.

Janet, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Avitable of Burlingame, was escorted to the altar by her father. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Terranova Jr. of Pacifica.

For her wedding, Janet chose an Empire gown of heavy white cotton with a high collar and sleeves trimmed with daisy lace and a train. She carried roses, stephanotis and carnations.

Claudia Spencer was her sister's matron of honor in a lime green linen gown with a high fitted bodice and a standing collar trimmed with matching crocheted lace. The bridesmaids, in similar gowns, were Linda Brady, Margaret Viacava, Toni Terranova, sister of the bride, and Adrienne and Anne Avitable, sisters of the bride, junior attendants.

They all carried old-fashioned bouquets of pink roses, carnations and candy tufts. The junior bridesmaids wore similar gowns in pink.

Michael P. Mingram acted as best man, and Robert Nolan, Pat Lawson and Roy Aurubherena escorted guests to their seats.

Scholarship Winner Will Take French Day Camp Is Launched In Pacifica

The San Bruno Women's City Club brought their fifteenth annual Scholarship Bridge Tournament to a close with a dinner held recently at Russo's Restaurant. Proceeds from the tournament provide a $500 scholarship each year for a Capuchino High School graduate.

The current winner is George Patterson, who has received a live membership in the California Scholarship Federation and several other honors for his scholastic achievement. He plans to major in French and will enter either San Francisco State or a junior college next fall.

Trophies were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent De Rosa, first place winners; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Estabrook, second; and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hultberg, third.

An evening of bridge followed the dinner, with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reynolds, the winning pair; Toby Ashley and Keith Freeman, second; and Bonnie Kellm and Frances Buck, third.

Mrs. Fred Berger, chairman of this year's tourney, was also in charge of the 1967 and 1968 contests.

Plans are already being made for next year's tournament, which will begin in September with Mrs. Eitel Reitz as chairman. All bridge players interested in entering are invited to call her for information.

Administrators of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City June 17 proposed a 1969-70 budget totalling $8,089,352.

According to Supt. Frank Greenwood, the budget, which exceeds the current year's expenditures by approximately $450,000, can be financed without any increase in taxes.

He said the district will receive approximately $250,000 from increased assessments, $150,000 in additional state funds, and $250,000 in allocations for increases in the student population this year.

There are still opening in the Day Camp program for the next session, which starts on June 30.

The base camp for the one week session will be Oddstad Park, (Crespi and Barcelona). From base camp campers will be hiking two days during the session into the back country. The other three days will be spent at camp learning the necessary camp skills to be a good outdoorsman.

Fee for the one week session is $4.50.

Shrimps And Scallops On The Skewer

Cooking food on skewers is as old as time itself. It started with primitive man spearing a piece of meat with a stick and holding it over the fire to cook. Today, in the more elegant terms of French cuisine, the same method — food cooked on a skewer — is done as brochette.

There are many food combinations that make a delicious skewer. Among them is this delicious collaboration of shrimp and scallops, fresh from King Neptune's deep.

In the recipe for Classic Seafood Brochette, note the unusual marinade. It is this initial step in the recipe that gives the shrimp and scallops a unique flavor.

The main ingredient is a classic French dressing that is combined with a dry white wine to make the marinade. This creamy white dressing, which has among its ingredients a "sauce viande," comparable to a steak sauce, imparts a variety of subtle flavors to the seafood as it is left to marinate for several hours.

Broccoli with almonds and crisp french fries or shoestring potatoes round out the meal in fine fashion.

CLASSIC SEAFOOD BROCHETTE

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup bottled Classic French Dressing
2 tablespoons dry white wine
1 pound (approx. 36) raw shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 pound (approx. 36) raw scallops

In medium bowl, combine classic French dressing, wine, shrimp, and scallops. Marinate in refrigerator several hours or overnight.

Thread 6 shrimp and 6 scallops alternately on each of 6 skewers. Broil 2 inches from heat 10 to 15 minutes or until golden on all sides. Baste with remaining marinade during broiling and before serving. Serve over herb rice. Makes 6 servings.

Blue Lake Puff With Fish, Chicken

Our house specialty this month is an attractive and decidedly different way to serve our favorite canned green beans, Blue Lakes from Oregon and Washington. These are the pole beans, packed under numerous brand names, that were developed especially for canning.

Blue Lakes are stringless, so don't call them "string beans." Best of all, they have small, tender seeds and firm, meaty pods.

"Blue Lake Puff" is an excellent accompaniment for fish or any light main dish such as broiled chicken. If you want more than 4 servings, we suggest you make 2 recipes simultaneously.

BLUE LAKE PUFF
1 can (1 lb.) cut Blue Lake green beans
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon powdered marjoram
Dash pepper
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
2 eggs, separated
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shredded American cheese

Drain beans, reserving $\frac{1}{4}$ cup liquid. Turn beans into 8-inch roasting pan. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and sauté lightly. Stir in flour, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, marjoram and pepper. Add milk and reserved bean liquid; cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Pour over beans. Beat egg whites with remaining $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in cheese. Gently fold cheese-yolk mixture into egg whites; spread over bean mixture. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once from baking dish. Makes 4 servings.

Hint of Mint In Frosting

For a smooth and glossy chocolate frosting with a luscious hint of mint, melt a package mini-flavored semi-sweet chocolate pieces in $\frac{1}{2}$ -cup evaporated milk, stirring over low heat until thick and smooth. Then stir in $\frac{1}{4}$ cups confectioners sugar until smoothly blended. Swirl atop a batch of cupcakes or over a tender cake layer for elegant eating.

Box Lunch for Your 4th of July Picnic

Wrap it up any way you like — California beef packs into a beautiful box lunch.

These delightful sandwiches are a whole new approach to picnic fare — full of delicious ground chuck and flavorful cheeses. And they're easy to handle too... just bake and cool, then slice into attractive squares.

Wrap individually, and pack with other foods he likes best in a gay herbibonned box. It's a fancy outdoor feast with that special person on a Fourth of July bike ride.

To stretch the pennies, make the most of the tasty less expensive cuts of beef. With a little imagination, juicy and flavorful ground chuck will make many a gourmet dish without hurting budget. All the forequarter cuts of beef are equally delicious and low in cost.

Take your choice of short ribs, brisket and the various ways beef chuck is cut.

If you marinate or use a meat tenderizer, you can cook these less tender cuts any way you like for a summer barbecue.

HE LOVES ME BEEF

1 pound ground California beef chuck
1-3 cup finely chopped onion
1 large egg
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon liquid red pepper seasoning
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup grated Swiss cheese
1-3 cup grated Parmesan cheese

2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
Pastry
Cook beef and onion in skillet until meat loses its pink color. Remove and cool slightly. Stir in beaten egg, salt, pepper seasoning, cheeses and parsley. Turn into pastry lined 8-inch square pan. Cover top with pastry. Prick top with fork. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 35 minutes until pastry is crisp and browned. Cool thoroughly before cutting into large squares. Makes 4 large sandwiches.

PASTRY: Resift 2 cups sifted flour with $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons salt. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cooking oil and 1-3 cup milk. Stir until well mixed. Roll half of pastry between 2

Now Summer Is Here, Let Your Imagination Excite Your Menus

School's out — and the fun has begun. Whether you're planning a luau for lunch or a corner lemonade stand, California seedless raisins take part in their own sweet way. Raisin bread sandwiches done up in seashell shapes make a perfect luau lunch — one the kids will enjoy. Tropical combinations of tuna and macadamia nuts or coconut and cream cheese are wonderful fillings to heap lavishly into toasted seashells. Or wrap raisin bread around cheese and ham wedges before toasting. Each filling is fresh and happily compatible with versatile raisin bread. For young financial wizards, a lemonade stand featuring these special raisin treats will bring success. Make them easily and bake them quickly with refrigerated biscuits. Customers are sure to enjoy the chocolate raisin filling in each biscuit blanket. It's surprising what forty little flavor-packed raisins can do. With deviled ham, grated carrot and mayonnaise, they make a tasty sandwich filling. With a mashed banana, forty raisins make a smashing spread between graham crackers. California seedless raisins are a summertime bonus for all sorts of refreshments. In cakes, sandwiches, salads and cookies their unique sweetness and chewiness are flavorful assets. Raisins are a natural summertime, funtime fruit!

RAISIN BREAD SEASHELLS
Roll fragrant slices of raisin bread cornucopia fashion to make little seashells.
1 (1-pound) loaf sliced raisin bread
1/2 cup melted butter
Sliced American cheese
Cooked ham
Tropical Tuna Filling

Kamehameha Coconut Filling
Trim crusts from raisin bread; brush both sides with butter. On one third of slices, place half slice of cheese; center with ham wedge. Roll bread slice over ham in cornucopia shape and fasten with picks. Roll remaining bread slices in cornucopias without filling.
Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 15 minutes, until toasted. Fill half unfilled cornucopias with Tropical Tuna Filling and half with Kamehameha Coconut Filling and serve at once. Makes 15 seashells.

TROPICAL TUNA FILLING
Drain and flake 6 1/2 or 7-ounce cans tuna. Mix in 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/4 cup chopped macadamia nuts and one third cup mayonnaise.

KAMEHAMEHA COCONUT FILLING: Combine 1 (3-ounce) package softened cream cheese with 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel, and 3 tablespoons flaked, shredded coconut.

CHOCOLATE RAISIN BUNS
These raisin buns will make an appetizing display — they will double!

Different Recipes For Sausages
Looking for something different and exciting to serve dinner guests? You probably never realize what a gourmet feast can be developed with unique sausage recipes. These delicious — and nourishing — suggestions are ideal for either sit-down or buffet dinners.

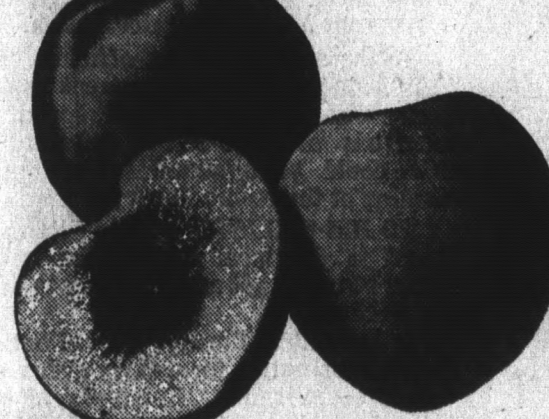

Sophisticated Sausage Casserole
1 lb. sausages (pork links; Spanish or Italian sausages)
4 tbsp. butter
1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped green peppers
1 cup diced celery
2 (10 1/2 oz.) cans chicken broth, heated to boiling
1 1/4 cups uncooked rice
1/4 cup sherry wine
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
Cut sausages in 3-inch pieces and brown in skillet. Remove sausages, pour off fat. Melt butter in skillet, saute onions, pepper and celery for five to seven minutes, stirring until lightly browned. In two-quart buttered casserole, mix together the sauteed vegetables, sausages, rice, sherry, broth, salt and pepper. Cover and bake in oven 1 hour at 325 degrees (until rice is tender and dry). Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Sausages and Sweets
1 lb. pork sausage links
1 can (16 oz.) sweet potatoes
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1/4 cup bread crumbs
Cook sausage links in three tablespoons of water in covered pan for five minutes. Remove cover and continue cooking over low flame, until lightly golden. Drain sweet potatoes, and mash well. Mix in pineapple and salt. Place links in greased shallow baking dish, and cover each with potato mixture. Mix crumbs with butter, and sprinkle over potatoes. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes four to six servings.

Sausage-Corn Casserole
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup diced onion
2 cans cocktail sausages, drained and cut into slices
2 cans cream-style corn (17 1/2 oz.) ea.
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. A-1 Sauce
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup bread crumbs
1 tbsp. melted butter
Melt two tablespoons of butter in large frying pan and cook pepper, onion and sausage over small flame, until onion is golden. In large bowl, mix together with corn, salt, and A-1. Pour half of mixture into 1 1/2 qt. casserole. Sprinkle with half of cheese. Add remaining corn mixture and top with cheese. Mix bread crumbs with butter and sprinkle over cheese. Bake approximately one half hour. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Product Choice Not Just On Price

ONE OF OUR women legislators in Washington recently stated that consumers could not be packaged.

"Consumers," she said, "choose one product over another for a wide variety of reasons, and not on the basis of price alone. Some well-meaning individuals think that the judgments we housewives make in the supermarket are based on the wrong things, and they have set out to correct all this.

"They seem to think that our value judgments are somehow inferior to their own, and that we housewives can, by the stroke of legislation, all be neatly packed and labeled."

Senator Gaylord Nelson is not happy with the results of his Bill S. 1424, which has been described as making price comparisons as easy "as filling out a federal income tax form."

He has introduced a new packaging and labeling law which he says will do what the present law has failed to do, make it easy to make comparisons between sizes and competing brands. The new bill will require the retailer to put the prices per ounce or other basic unit, on the merchandise when he marks his own price.

Five California women recently flunked a test in which they were to choose the cheapest per unit of 70 items found in super markets. The reasons the women, who were all satisfied with their shopping, gave were very interesting and not tied into the cost.

The dishwashing detergent was chosen over a cheaper brand because "it smelled so good" and was easy on hands.

Chicken was a big sale item of the week but the customer was hungry for the steak she bought instead. A member of the family was allergic to the other brand of washday detergent on the shelf.

MATTER OF PRICE did not influence the choice of cereal. It was the favorite brand of a four-year-old child.

Five pounds of California table grapes were purchased because the store was being picketed by the SDS trying to persuade everyone to boycott the table grapes. The customer did not agree with the pickets.

Another dishwashing detergent was chosen because it was the cheapest and seemed to work equally well as higher priced detergents in the dishwasher. When questioned further on her choice, the customer said she had no trouble in picking the brand, it was in a special large box to introduce a new brand.

The paper towels matched the color of the customer's kitchen. The bathroom paper with a border of pretty flowers appealed to the customer's fancy.

Six cakes of soap were selected because (1) Smelled good (2) Did not irritate any member of the family's skin (3) Matched the bathroom (4) Seemed to last longer when the children left the soap in bath water.

COULD IT BE THAT women shoppers have not had much practice in choosing the cheapest merchandise on the shelves simply because the cheapest article is seldom what they were actually looking for?

SPECIAL 'SEE' TRIP

Much California History Cradled in Sonoma Area

A significant portion of California's history lies cradled in lush Sonoma County in the Valley of the Moon and a car trip is an ideal way to acquaint oneself with one of the more romantic eras in the state's rich historical heritage.

At Sonoma Historic State Park the original buildings of the Spanish, the Mexican Republic and the American 19th century periods stand side by side, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Mission San Francisco de Solano, better known as Sonoma Mission, was the last in the chain of 21 California missions and the only one established under Mexican rule. It overlooks the eight-acre plaza laid out by General Mariano G. Vallejo. The mission was established in July, 1823 by young Padre Jose Altimira. The original mission was a crude, wooden structure plastered inside and out with white-washed mud. The only original building that remains is the priest's quarters, now a museum displaying mementos of early California.

WITHIN THE WALLS of the mission are displays devoted to different periods of history — the Bear Flag revolt, the pioneers, the early development of the town of Sonoma, Spanish missions and missionaries, the California Indian and the days of the Mexican Republic. Original water colors by the celebrated California artist, Chris Jorgensen, hang here. His 61 paintings are studies of all the California missions as they appeared in the early 1800's.

A few steps away from the mission are the Mexican army barracks built to house the soldiers of the presidial company. The Quartel, a two-story structure with balcony was erected in 1839-41, when Vallejo was commandante-general of the northern frontier. This historic building recalls the garrison-pueblo days of Mexico's frontier in California.

Spectators on the balcony could have seen the raising of the Bear Flag across the end of the Mexican rule. The flag was raised June 14, 1846, by American settlers.

A bronze statue stands on the northeast corner of the Plaza, commemorating the birth of the California Republic. When Vallejo and his family arrived in Sonoma, the Indians built them a large adobe home west of the mission, two stories high with a three-story lookout tower. It was called Casa Grande. Today only the servants' wing remains, a long, narrow building that has been restored.

Some People Will Do Anything...

IF THE ABOVE photo were in color your eyes would swirl amid all the green Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett was wearing when he showed up for Bocce Ball court dedication at Colma Intermediate School. Laughter of folks behind mayor is for his bonnet, which probably made a few others turn green, too, not necessarily with envy.

Miss Lesley Gore a Busy Gal

IF YOUNG Lesley Gore had a choice, she'd select for her next acting performance the Judy Holiday role in "Bells Are Ringing."

Miss Gore, who just wrapped up a neat five-performance appearance with the Totie Fields Show at the Circle Star Theatre, made the observation when one of her fan clubbers asked what she wanted most to play in.

The question came during a brief, but pleasant intermission chat with the pretty singer-actress last Friday.

Our daily product, through a typographical error, called her Miss Lore, but darned if that wouldn't describe the lovely unpretentious miss... in her early twenties and energetic as all get out.

MISS GORE, a product of well-to-do upper middle class suburbia and a drama-English lit degree holder, had just finished her portion of the Fields show, and after her powerful performance should have been wrong out. But entertainers have a way with them, and Miss Gore acknowledged, too, she was ready to do it all over again; right then.

This from our review of the show:

"Whatever her academic credits, she can sing! Modern Miss Gore offers her audience the contemporary material she personally prefers, along with the type of song 'my parents enjoyed.'"

Throughout her performance we wondered how such a powerful voice made its way out of such a tiny lass. Though she's guested on national network television Miss Gore is better known, generally, in the east, though some in the Midwest.

She lives in the east — so do her parents.

UNTIL A YEAR AGO Miss Gore attended college fulltime limiting her recording and personal appearances to weekends.

During that time she still found time to appear in summer stock productions of "Half A Sixpence" "Finian's Rainbow" and "Funny Girl."

Since then she has been playing night clubs, neglecting somewhat her recording. With "Love, Love, Love" just recently behind her, a new disc is soon to be cut, she disclosed.

Though Miss Gore is single and probably can fit everything in some semblance of proper order, she seems plenty busy. Nonetheless, she's pondering a move to California, where the variety is greater, and within more reasonable traveling distance.

SORRY: Last week's "spread" on the barbershop quartet audition session should have indicated Bob Burton took the photos — they helped secure 30 possible new voices for the singing unit.

ED CATION, who seems to get around, says he heard this at a school board session in Daly City: "We never make a mistake, but, oh, how those errors creep in."

Eight-Point Program After Evidence Shows Drunks Deadly Drivers

One-third of the 55,000 annual auto deaths in the United States are attributed by the National Highway Safety Bureau to — erpsms wtpse b,ppd at tie tome of death had a concentration of 0.10 per cent alcohol or higher by weight.

This level is equivalent to a 150-pound person drinking five or six 1.5-ounce shots of whisky within one hour.

"The evidence is overwhelming," said Robert Brenner, the bureau's acting director, "that a guy with this kind of blood alcohol ratio is more than a social drinker."

Based on its finding, the bureau has proposed an eight-point program to rid the nation's highways of the chronic alcoholic.

"We're way overdue in cracking down," Brenner commented. "Lots of innocent people are being wiped out. The alcoholic may be a sick person, but the alcoholic driver is a criminal."

Among proposals by the bureau are mandatory reporting by physicians of alcoholics to driver-license agencies and the courts; exchange of information on alcoholics between police, medical, insurance and license agents; control of driving by alcoholics; uniform state drunk-driving codes, and increased research.

IT LOOKS LIKE former judge Tom Bocell will throw his hat into the April Assembly race against Leo Ryan, if you believe the talk that's going around.

THERE GO DA JUDGE — The Bacalla Club of Daly City bid farewell to retiring Judge Wayne Millington last Friday. It had to be the wildest goodbye party hizzoner ever had the misfortune to attend. But he took it like a sport and remained sober as a judge throughout (not an easy thing to do at a Bacalla Goodbye Party).

CAN SOMEONE OUT THERE kindly tell my why the police department (who has a guy riding around on a three-wheeler solely for the purpose) doesn't give out tickets to those persons who overpark in green zones, white zones, and even yellow zones? Or those folks who live in apartments and park their private autos in front of commercial areas around shopping centers, etc? Let's go officer, get out that ticket book.

YOU HEARD IT FIRST (Unless it's wrong, then forget it). Strong, strong rumors pointing to appointment of Attorney Robert Miller of San Mateo to fill the municipal judgeship vacated by resignation of Paul Hupf. And even stronger rumors that South County muni Judge Lyle R. Edson has the superior bench vacated by retiring Judge Wayne Millington. If the latter is true it's a real precedent as far as the Reagan administration is concerned. Edson is a Demo... and Governor Reagan is a Republican... get it?

GETTING A DRIVER'S LICENSE nowadays is a bad joke. The Department of Motor Vehicles Drivers' Examination Section is so packed — every day — the people that work there have been told to "run 'em through," and we can only surmise that most motorists going through are not properly trained on the proper ways to handle a vehicle. Examiners, who risk their lives with some of these people, are complaining loudly. But the yelling falls on deaf ears. I think it's rather farsighted thinking myself. I mean, sending out those untrained drivers to wipe out a few cars and lives on the highways as an answer to solving our traffic congestion problem.

The Public Library Needed By Everyone

HOW CAN MONEY be sent through the mails? What state has the largest Negro population?

When eating fruit cocktail, is it correct to lift the glass and drink the remaining juice after the fruit is eaten? I'd like a religious poem that I can recite at my brother's farewell. How many times have the Giants won the pennant and who were the stars?

Everyone has questions; Everyone needs the public library; it is everyone's source of information.

To the surprise of the officials of a California firm, a management expert demonstrated that they were spending hundreds of dollars for information that could be obtained for virtually nothing at the public library.

TO HIS DELIGHT a Daly City man found in the local library the handbooks he could not afford to buy to pass his state boards.

In her public library, a local author found information for a story of her native West Virginia. Hundreds of patrons have planned vacations from the route to follow to the restaurants to visit and the hotel-motel accommodations. At his local library a teetotaler who was planning a trip to Europe learned the names of non-alcoholic drinks that are sold in every country.

Such incidents bring to mind Joseph Wheeler's statement, "The dollar value of time lost by leading citizens and the desperate maneuvers they go through to locate needed information, which is or should be available in their local libraries, seems unbelievable."

Wheeler calls for an extensive campaign to convince the American people that they can use their libraries to help with their daily problems.

A survey of the reference section of the public library brings to light such helpful volumes as: the Research Institute Tax Guide; an Index-Digest of State Constitutions; The New American Guide to Colleges; and the Encyclopedia of Careers and Vocational Guidance.

BOOKS BY Emily Post, Amy Vanderbilt and Llewellyn Miller are included as reference works as guides to manners for every occasion.

Famous First Facts, and the Rapid Fact Finder are part of a collection of books to answer the off-beat questions that plague many people.

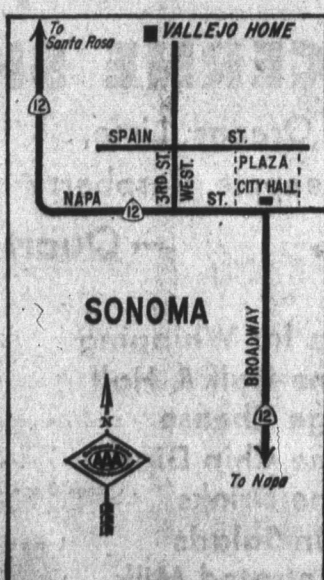

For ready reference there are the World Almanac, Information Please, the Reader's Almanac, Statistical Abstract, the Negro Handbook, Statesmen's Yearbook and the United Nations Yearbook.

In Bartlett's and Stevens's books of quotations, in Braude's The Speakers Desk Book of Quips and Quotes and in many other titles there are quotations for every person for every quotation.

History, biography, fashion, customs, holidays, religion, philosophy, politics, law — whatever your problem there are answers in your public library.

TO AUGMENT THE books themselves and help with their use, most public libraries employ reference librarians. These are highly skilled people who know where to look and how to look.

Surely a community that does not use its public library as a chief source of information is as Henry Peacham wrote long ago, "like a child that will have a candle burning by him all the while he is sleeping."

mission, barracks and Casa Grande, include the Swiss Hotel, formerly the home of Don Salvador Vallejo, the general's brother; and the Blue Wing Inn, operated as an early inn and now a gift shop.

A long, tree-lined avenue leads to Vallejo's home one-half mile out of town. He called it Lachryma Montis, or Tear of the Mountain, because of the abundant spring nearby. The home, fully furnished as when the Vallejos lived there, is of Gothic design, two stories high with steep-pitched roof and dormer windows overlooking a garden of lawn, roses, orange and magnolia trees.

Getting the Most Out of Purchases

Good morning, good cooks.

The government reports and our newspapers keep us apprised of the rising food costs. As homemakers we are well aware of the shrinking power of the dollar. It behooves us as the managers and chief purchasing agents to get the most out of our purchases.

When we plan our meals the first decision is what to have for the entree. Once that is decided, we build the rest of the meal around it. Meat is usually the main dish, though there are many other foods that can provide the protein so necessary to a balanced meal. Poultry, fish, eggs, milk, cheese, all are sources of protein that can be utilized in the main dish.

THIS WEEK we will concentrate on meats, and try to offer some suggestions for buying and preparing dishes that will help stretch the budget.

The following information about the yield of various cuts of meat may help in your buying.

Much bone or gristle . . . one pound yields 1 to 2 servings. Examples are shank, brisket, plate, short ribs, sparerib, breast of lamb or veal.

Medium amount of bone . . . yields about 2 to 3 servings. Examples are whole or end cuts of beef round, veal leg or shoulder, ham with bone in; also steaks, chops, or roasts from the loin, rump or rib sections.

Little bone . . . a pound yields 3 to 5 servings. Examples are center cuts of beef round, or ham; also lamb or veal cutlets; chuck.

No bone . . . a pound yields 4 to 5 servings. Examples are ground meat, boneless stew meats; liver or other variety of boneless meats.

So you can see that you have to figure the number of people you want to serve, and the amount the meat you buy will serve, in making your purchase. For example, a pound of ground meat goes twice as far as a pound of spareribs.

You don't have to buy the most expensive cuts, in fact you may get more lean meat to the pound of less expensive cuts since these cuts have less marbling of fat.

The cut refers to the part of the animal from which the meat comes. The buyer can save money by using the less tender cuts of beef, the less popular cut of pork, lamb and veal and the organ or variety meats such as liver, heart and kidney when they are available.

The protein in these cuts is just as good nutritionally as the expensive cuts.

LONG, SLOW COOKING, as for braised meats and stews makes beef round, flank, chuck or short ribs tasty and tender. For extra flavor first brown meat in a little fat. To braise, use little or no liquid except the juices that cook the meat. Cook, closely covered with low heat. To stew add water to partially cover meat, cover kettle and simmer.

BROWN BEEF STEW

- 1 pound boneless stewing beef
- Salt and pepper
- Flour
- Drippings
- 1½ cups water
- 3 potatoes, diced
- 2 onions, sliced
- 3 carrots, sliced
- 1 cup green beans

Cut the pound of stewing beef into inch cubes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, roll in flour and brown in drippings.

Add the one and one-half cups water, cover and simmer until almost tender, two to three hours. Add the cut-up vegetables, season with salt and pepper and continue to simmer, covered until vegetables are done. Stir occasionally.

This will serve 4 generously.

THIS NEXT DISH is a tasty dollar stretcher, using ground beef and pork and beans, with the addition of vegetables and seasonings it makes a large casserole.

BARBECUE BEANS

- 1 pound ground beef
- ¼ cup green pepper, chopped
- ½ cup onion, sliced
- ½ cup celery, chopped
- 1 can tomato sauce
- ½ cup water
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon thyme
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can pork and beans (2½ size can)

Brown the pound of ground beef, pour off some of the grease, add the fourth cup chopped green pepper, one-half cup each celery and onion, and minced garlic clove. Cook until the vegetables are tender.

Combine the can of tomato sauce, half cup water and two tablespoons vinegar and stir in the teaspoon each dry mustard and thyme, the tablespoon brown sugar and teaspoon salt. Add this to the meat mixture and simmer for 5 minutes. Mix in the can of pork and beans and pour into a 1½ quart casserole. Bake uncovered in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes.

A READER called to ask if I could suggest some new way to serve spinach to her non-spinach-eaters. I have a non-spinach-eater in my family and it takes a good trick to make it palatable. This very easy way to prepare it is a good trick.

BAKED SPINACH

- 1 pkg. frozen spinach
- ½ cup diced processed cheese
- Butter
- Salt and pepper

Place the package unthawed spinach in a buttered, covered baking dish. Bake 350-degrees until spinach is thawed enough for you to stir in the half cup cheese. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and bake until cheese is melted. Delicious.

ALBERT BICKHAM uses his bus (background) to shuttle children around Northern California one one event or another. He involves himself in every possible youth activity in the community because "I just like to be around kids." (Post Photo)

D.C. Bus Driver Aids Area Youth

By FRANK LaPIERRE
There's no telling what Albert Bickham might have been doing today if he hadn't been hit by an exploding landmine during the invasion of Normandy 25 years ago. He always liked football and as a teen-ager almost every backyard game found Albert participating. And he liked working with kids. The quiet spoken former Private First class assigned to Company C, First Army, was left bleeding and hovering near death for weeks after the explosion, his legs smashed and useless. Gradually, he recovered, but not to a point where he could run with a ball, or even walk without limping. Even coaching sports was out of the question, Albert was told. Now married and the father of an 11-year-old boy and 13-year-old daughter, Albert presently lives at 125 Thiers Drive in Daly City. With several other persons he went into the transit business and opened up a company (Northgate Transit) in Daly City. With time on his hands and a bus at his disposal, Albert gradually became involved in community youth activities. First, with the Boy Scouts next the Brownies and then branching out to the city's Pop Warner football stars — the Daly City Flyers. Since the league was founded in Daly City, Albert has volunteered to shuttle the team to and from all out-of-town games. His son, a scout with troop 350 BSA, found his father's bus available and for the past two summers Albert has transported the scouts to camp in Willits — more than 150 miles away — on his days off. When Albert's daughter asked him to help the Brownies, he drove the girls to several outings around the Bay Area on his own time and using his own money. Asked why he spent the bulk of his off time involved in these often tiresome youth activities, Albert's only reply: "I just like to be around kids, doing whatever I can to help them."

Escapees Hold Knife On Campers

A pair of prisoners escaped from the San Francisco Jail in San Bruno on June 17, and forced four young campers to turn over a motorcycle at knife point before being captured by police in Pacifica, authorities said today. Officer Bill Tafuya said John H. Barnhart, 27, and Michael Squires, 21, both serving time for previous escapes, lowered themselves out a window at the jail with blankets about 9 p.m. They made their way to a wooded area near the easterly end of Fessler Avenue in Pacifica, and approached four teenage boys on an overnight camping trip. The youths, Darrell Grady, 16, Leslie Gonzales, 14, Jeffrey Grigg, 16, and Daniel Jones, 15, reported the pair approached their campsite about 10 p.m. and took a motorcycle after brandishing a knife. The youths made their way to a residence in the area and telephoned police. Pacifica officers spotted the escapees in a grassy area behind the Rockaway Motel on Highway One about 11 p.m. and they surrendered without resistance. A pair of prisoners escaped from the San Francisco Jail in San Bruno on June 17, and forced four young campers to turn over a motorcycle at knife point before being captured by police in Pacifica, authorities said today.

Jeff Delays Insurance

Trustees of the Jefferson High School District, faced with termination of its liability insurance July 1, have delayed a week the selection of another plan. The school district has been wrestling with the insurance headache since early May when the Hartford Insurance Group advised the school, through agent Peter J. Markovich, "that we will not be able to renew this policy at expiration and have marked our file accordingly." Markovich in the meantime has secured a policy from Pacific Indemnity Group for $25,650 annually, which was presented trustees last night, along with a proposal from Levinson Bros., Inc., a package offered for $19,963 the first year and for $59,889 over a three year period.

Offer 50 Programs At S. Bruno College

Both incoming freshmen and transferring sophomores will have a choice of more than 50 different programs and hundreds of day and evening classes when Skyline College, the Bay Area's newest community college, opens its doors this coming September.

Rex Butler, head, Office of Admissions and registration, stated that Skyline College students will have numerous advantages including:

—Better chance to secure classes and a wider selection of courses.

—Only 30 per cent of Skyline College's total enrollment will include sophomores thus aiding this group in its selection and securing of courses.

—Students, especially freshmen, will have a better chance of securing their required classes and starting on their "major" programs.

—The cost and time factors in commuting to college will be reduced especially for those students from the northern section of the county.

—There is a better opportunity for the students to secure individual attention in planning their programs.

—The college's evening program also will give the students and citizens the opportunity to participate in a variety of classes and activities.

However, students whether they be freshmen or sophomores must make application on or before Friday, August 1. Registration and counseling at the Skyline campus will be held during the period August 18 through August 29.

Students who plan to enroll at Skyline College should contact the college by phone 3557-0000 or writing to Skyline College, care

LE PACINI

A LITTLE MORE THAN TWO WEEKS ago Terra Nova's baseball varsity hung on in the late innings to beat Santa Cruz, 6-5, and win the Central Coast Section baseball championship.

The Tigers could go no further on the state level.

That victory brought them rating as one of the five best high school baseball teams in the entire State of California. Terra Nova's success was the north Peninsula League's and the county's success, for it brought the first-ever Central Coast Section championship in any sport to the league as well as to all of San Mateo County. With the team honor came the individual honors . . . Co-coach of the Year, Co-player of the Year, five all-league spots, the individual batting championship . . . it all seemed so glorious, and so easy.

Only Coach Al Figone and his players will ever know how hard it really was — not just in 1969, but for the past five years, for the cornerstone of this Tiger championship was laid by Figone in 1965, and was not easily built upon.

When Figone took the reins of the TN varsity that year fresh from one season as frosh-soph coach, the Tigers were and always had been losers. Figone decided that drastic changes had to be made, that he was going to build his own program and use his own system and indoctrinate his own players, that the old guard must play it his way or not at all.

"THOSE KIDS then just weren't enjoying the game," reflects Figone, "and baseball should be fun. And you can't have fun losing."

The first thing Figone did was institute — of all things — an academically oriented baseball class, with lectures and everything, just like downtown. Figone even gave quizzes and tests, and those who weren't listening and subsequently didn't pass the tests on basic baseball fundamentals were asked not to go out for the team.

"THOSE KIDS then just weren't enjoying the game," reflects ball to pass relatively simple tests, just weren't buying what I was selling . . . complete dedication. They obviously didn't want to play real baseball, and I obviously couldn't have them."

What Figone ended up with after his separation process was a green but eager team staffed by only three seniors, as they say, he was building, and that 1965 had a poor record.

But then Figone started his program in earnest. He required the entire returning team to play together in the summer leagues to not only gain individual experience, but to acquire that nebulous cohesiveness called team work. They had a good summer and came in to 1966 full of hope with what they thought could be the key to championship contention — a six foot six senior pitcher named Bob Marr who had finally seemed to arrive. Marr was touted as the best pitcher in the NPL and was being eyed by the scouts. But just before the season opened Marr was involved in a collision with a school bus which ended his career with a severely dislocated hip.

FIGONE was left with a good looking group of still relatively inexperienced players with whom he had worked with when he was the frosh-soph coach. They were a pretty solid squad and Figone could see some of his theories starting to work ("The kids could see what I was trying to accomplish and could see that the type of program we were attempting to establish would start paying off"), but without Marr as the catalyst the theories weren't translated into wins.

It was in 1966 that Figone's program began coming to fruition. He had a good, solid team comprised mostly of seniors who had played together since their freshman and sophomore years and during summers, and they missed the championship by just two games, finishing second.

"The attitude that I had been looking for was developing," says Figone. "I was getting hard workers who believed in our system. We were attracting winners. Kids who were willing to get good grades, be good citizens in school, and dedicate themselves to good baseball."

"I had known for several years, following some of those kids through the youth leagues when they were 11, 12, 13 years old, that baseball at Terra Nova was going into a good cycle, genuine dynasty, perhaps, and I was determined to make that talent pay off."

LAST YEAR the Tigers were talented (they won their own Easter tournament) but mainly only sophomores and juniors (only two seniors) and the relative inexperience cost them. They fell to third place, three games off the pace, but what encouraged Figone in the inevitable post season re-playing of games (if it discouraged him during the season), which all coaches must live through was that the team had lost six games by one run, and had still managed that third place finish.

"I knew that 1969 just had to be our year, says Figone. It didn't start out that way. Before the season even began, Figone lost two first stringers, brothers Gary and Keith Hernandez, whose family moved out of the area. Gary had been the regular first baseman as a junior, and Keith had been a freshman sensation who "would have played regularly somewhere."

More disaster struck in early season when the Tigers almost knocked themselves out of the race, then and there with back to back losses to Jeff (4-0) and Half Moon Bay (8-1).

"That Half Moon Bay shocker," says Figone, "turned out to be the best thing that ever happened to us, the turning point. It had been my fault. I had been telling those kids since we took two summer championships that we were going all the way this year, that they were too good to ever be beaten. I put too much pressure on them. They tried to relax against Half Moon Bay and got bombed. But it relieved the tension. They knew then that they weren't invincible yet that they could never again relax."

THE TIGERS started to win again and were then hit with another crippling blow. Mike Rawlings, their regular catcher since his freshman year, hurt his rifle arm so badly that he had to sit out a string of crucial games.

"That came near shattering the team's confidence," says Figone. "With Mike in there, the pitchers could know they would get a well called, well received game, that nobody would steal on them, that he would make all the right plays. We also missed Mike's bat."

It was typical of the kind of cohesiveness the Tigers had developed, however, that Tim Lutz, a utility player who had never caught an inning of baseball, stepped into Rawlings' shoes and that Terra Nova won five league games with Lutz behind the plate.

But that's the way it was all year after that Half Moon Bay Game, always somebody picking up the responsibility of winning. The Tigers won 13 of their last 16 games, their last seven straight, and two of those three losses in that skein, were in practice games.

Possibly the most classic game in NPL history was played during that run, the late season 13 inning contest against South San Francisco which the Tigers knew they had to win to keep pace with Jefferson.

They did, 2-0, but only because John Burgess threw a fantastic one hitter and outfielder Greg Lynch made a dramatic late game spectacular catch of a "sure" homerun in the gathering dusk.

Even Terra Nova's NPL championship wasn't easy and had to be shared with Jefferson, when the league caused a controversy by deciding that there would be no play-off between the dead-locked teams to determine the absolute champ of the NPL. Jeff decided to enter another tournament and Terra Nova got its chance.

It was probably Lynch again who got the Tigers into the sectional finals when they had to beat MPL champ Capuchino (For whom, ironically, the Hernandez brothers were now playing.) Lynch had been benched for weak hitting, having gone hitless in 23 at bats, but was inserted into the Cap game to replace a player benched by Figone for disciplinary reasons.

All Lynch was make several key defensive plays and bang a crucial double and triple in 3-1 squeaker.

Rawlings returned for the post-season games and delivered several key hits and in the semi-final sectional against Gunn made a key pick-off throw despite a still sore arm.

WHAT'S IN STORE for Terra Nova next year? They lose pitcher John Burgess. All he did was lead the NPL in wins (7) and rate second in strikeouts and ERA (0.83). He was the team's second best hitter (.300). He was the league's co-player of the Year. He was the NPL's only representative on the North squad for the first annual North-South state high school all-star game played last Saturday at Candlestick. He's received a full athletic scholarship to USC. ("When Burgess was pitching," says Figone, "nobody could beat us but ourselves.") They also lose all-league shortstop Bill Downing, also bound for USC on a full ride, his keystone pal Pat Woodward, Lynch, and first baseman Vince Lampedecchio.

As Figone says, TN may be starting a dynasty. "None of those boys is irreplaceable," he says soberly.

And he may be right, because returning are pitcher-outfielder Bob McClure ("He's got the finest pickoff move of any right handed high school pitcher I've ever seen," says Figone).

"With him holding them close to first and with Rawlings catching, the only way the opposition will get a second base next year will be by hitting doubles," Rawlings, Lutz, (both of whom gained all-league Honorable Mention), a host of talented youngsters, and probably the key player this year along with Burgess, outfielder Mike Calder.

Calder, who set an NPL record by hitting a cool 500, and who also led the league in total hits and runs scored and was a mere runner-up in RBI's, is so good an athlete that when Figone enthuses about his return next year, he says, "He'll really key our defense," and then adds, as an afterthought, "of course, he'll help the offense, too."

YEH, YEH, it could be a dynasty.

Welfare Bill Said 'Insane'

$18 Million For Indigent

County supervisors were told last week that they cannot comply with a request from the County Supervisors Association of California that they withhold approval of a welfare budget for 1969-70 to "dramatize" the need for state tax reform.

But Chairman Robert St. Clair indicated that he wasn't so sure.

"There is no way in the world I can go for this," St. Clair said yesterday about the proposed $18 million indigent support program. "This is absolutely insane."

Later, however, St. Clair said he realized that the board will probably have to approve the budget because of requirements of the state and federal governments, who pay 90 per cent of the cost. Tarshes pointed out that the county ordinance code requires the board to adopt the county budget by June 30. The supervisors agreed to meet again today to continue work on the budget.

St. Clair was upset because state and federal requirements are forcing the welfare budget up some $6 million and the hiring of 200 new employees.

"I'm tired of the county being a rubber stamp for the state and federal government," St. Clair said. "The people are blaming the rubber stamp."

Youth Held As Alarm Rings Twice

A 16-year-old San Francisco youth was arrested inside the Starlite Supermarket at 6000 Mission Street about midnight Monday after the suspect tried to force his way into a cash drawer, police say.

Store night manager Earl Benson and a security agent from a burglar alarm company worked long after the store closed at 10 p.m. Monday night in an effort to find a break in the alarm system wiring.

A search of the store disclosed a rear door had been broken along with a silent alarm circuit wire. The damage was repaired in minutes and both men left the store.

Benson had no sooner gotten home, shortly after midnight, when the alarm company called him back to the store to investigate why the alarm was sounding again.

As Benson and the alarm company security agent pulled into the store's parking lot, they spotted a youth inside the building.

Daly City police were called and a search of the store revealed the unidentified boy trying to hide in a corner.

Police said the youth was apparently alone and had stayed in the building after closing hours.

He had originally broken the rear door and disconnected the alarm to use as an escape route after forcing his way into the cash drawer.

After he saw the two men leave, he again tried the rear door, touching off the alarm by accident.

Frembling Back At Sea Lions' Helm

A big Sea Lion roar could be heard from the Terra Nova pool last Tuesday when Coach Bob Frembling returned to coach the Pacifica Sea Lions Swim Team.

After a two-year absence from coaching responsibilities with the team Bob couldn't believe that some of those "gutter-grabbers" he left had grown about two feet and could swim a mile!

Bob is currently a professor of recreation at Cal-State, Hayward, and will be coaching the team, in addition to his teaching responsibilities at the college.

Ever on to victory seems to be the cry from the Sea Lion bench and several swimmers placed in the finals of the Tan-Tau Swim Meet last weekend.

Kathy McGuire turned out to be the real competitor of the meet placing sixth in the 100 freestyle with a 1:09.1 and by breaking "A" time in the 200 yard freestyle with a 2:35.7. Others placing in the meet were Joe Morgan with a 1:14.8 for a sixth place in the 100 yard freestyle and Bob Ramsey with a 3:0.0 for a fifth place in the 50 yard freestyle.

According to the Sea Lion rooting section all the swimmers competing in the meet for the Sea Lions were great. They wiped out all of their own individual records in the events and set a new goal for themselves.

There is no doubt the Sea Lions are on there way to greatness at the July AAU meet which will be held at Terra Nova High School on July 26 and 27.

Coach Frembling has set June 30th, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., as try-out time for the Pacifica Sea Lions Swim Club.

Try-outs will be held at the Terra Nova High School swimming pool and is open to anyone interested in joining the team.

Swimmers must be five years and older.

"We're looking for five and six-year-olds to try-out for the team" says Frembling.

Parents should accompany the child in order to obtain the necessary information about joining the team and to meet the coach and the members of the Parent group.

For additional information about the try-outs contact the Park, Beach and Recreation Department office, at 170 Santa Maria Avenue.

4,500 Homes Lose Power In South S.F.

Some 4,500 South San Francisco homes were without power for between 25 and 45 minutes yesterday.

Bill Strobble of Pacific Gas and Electric Company explained that high winds slammed two 12,000-volt lines together, blowing up a transformer located at the rear of 317 Denard Way.

Strobble added that lines also were knocked down behind 509 Val Verdi.

Sunshine Garden, Avalon and Buri Buri regions apparently were affected.

The first reports of outage was at 6:56 p.m. Most power was restored by 7:20 p.m. in most areas, and all was back in service by 7:40 p.m., Strobble said.

A South San Francisco Fire Department spokesman said two teen-aged girls were trapped for about 25 minutes in an apartment house elevator that stopped operating when the power went out.

D.C. Library Annex Lease Is Approved

The Daly City council Monday approved a two year lease for a public library at 129 Accacia street from the Diamond Utility District.

Rental on the building is $60 per month.

In other action Monday, the council:

—Denied a use permit to Mary Gomez which would have permitted establishment of a child center for a maximum of 15 children in a single family residence at 1026 South Mayfair Avenue in the Westlake section of the city.

The request had met with strong opposition from homeowners in the area, who were supported in their action by the powerful Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association.

—Continued until their next regular meeting a request from John H. Swanson which would grant a variance for construction of additional office space at the Westlake Bowl with less than required parking. The matter had been previously denied by the Planning Commission.

—Continued for a week Suburban Realty Company's request for erecting an "on premises" sign against an apartment building at 522 Clarinda Avenue.

—Appointed Gertrude Kendree and Helen Staub to the Library Commission; Melford D. Battye to the Personnel Board; and Alfred E. Banfield and Dino Tonelli to the Planning Commission for terms prescribed by law. All Commission posts would have expired within the next two months.

A 'Safe Boating Week' Rite

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary is to participate in National "Safe Boating Week," June 29-July 5.

Flotilla 18 will be conducting courtesy boat examinations at Oyster Point Marina in South San Francisco on June 29, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Fire fighting demonstrations will be held at the Marina at 11 a.m. and again at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Knife Attack In Daly City

Four youths attacked a 25-year-old Daly City man Thursday on Mission Street and without provocation slashed him with a knife.

Darrell Ockerman told police he was on his way home from a Mission Street supermarket shortly before 11 p.m. last night when the knife-wielding youths jumped out of a car and surrounded him on the sidewalk.

One of the youths lashed out with a pocketknife, cutting the victim on the side of the neck. He was treated for a minor wound and released, police said.

LAFCO Rejects Proposal To Incorporate Broadmoor

Incorporation of the Broadmoor area as San Mateo County's 19th city was vetoed Wednesday by the County Local Agency Formation Commission.

"We need fewer local governments, not more," said William R. Lawson, acting chairman.

Action on another proposal to annex Broadmoor and adjoining unincorporated areas to Daly City — was postponed until September 17.

Five years of work by members of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association went down the drain when the all-powerful county commission refused to approve the incorporation proposal. Members of the commission commended Al Ickler, association president, for his leadership in the incorporation study and presentation to LAFCO.

"It was a good fight — but you lost," they told him.

B. Sherman Coffman, LAFCO executive officer, recommended that the incorporation be denied. He said the BPOA proposal failed to provide for certain vital municipal services and that the suggested budget most likely would not pay for the services that were outlined.

Ickler said Coffman's report was based on the wrong set of figures. Coffman was working with a proposed budget of $247,000, while the true figure was $280,000, Ickler said. It turned out that Coffman based his report on a proposal submitted last year and, for some reason, had not seen a revised proposal that was submitted later.

Coffman, however, said the higher budget would not cause him to change his recommendation that incorporation be denied.

Joseph A. Arch, financial consultant for the incorporation study, said that of the $280,000 total, only $24,000 would have to come from ad valorem taxes.

Head Mary's Help Staff

DR. EDWARD E. GARVEY

DR. WERNER DISSE

DR. EDGAR V. NOLAN

At the annual meeting of the medical-dental staff of Mary's Help Hospital on June 11, Werner Disse, M.D., was elected president.

Dr. Disse, a staff member for over eleven years, has served on numerous committees and educational programs at the hospital. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Anesthesiology and chairman of the hospital's department of anesthesiology.

Edgar V. Nolan, M. D., internist and active staff member for over eighteen years, was elected vice president of the staff and Edward E. Garvey, M. D., chief of the division of otorhinolaryngology, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Also elected at this time as members-at-large of the executive committee were Drs. Roman Turkull, Paul Negulescu, John L. Zucca and Robert A. Bialer.

2 N. County Projects Funded by State

The California Highway Commission has appropriated funds for a traffic safety project in Half Moon Bay and for a cooperative State-City of Colma project.

Approval and funding of the two projects came during a regular business meeting of the Commission held in Fresno.

A passing lane and a guard rail will be built on Route 92 about 3.3 miles east of Main Street in Half Moon Bay. The Commission allocated $36,000 for this modification.

The Commission also allocated $20,000 as the State's cost of a project to improve drainage on Route 82 in Colma.

The city is building a storm drain system to relieve a flooding problem. The present 24-inch drain near the entrance to the Mount Olivet Cemetery is inadequate to handle storm waters.

The new system will start at Hillsdale Boulevard (about 2,000 feet east of El Camino Real), run through the cemetery property, cross El Camino Real (Route 82) and discharge into Colma Creek. Total cost of the project is estimated at $61,000. The State will pay for construction costs incurred within the route right-of-way (about $20,000).

The traffic safety project is one of the 31 such improvement programs approved by the Commission during the session. State cost will approximate $1,476,000.

All work will be done on highways already open to the public. Work will be contracted during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1969.

This newest Commission appropriation action brings to 135 the total number of traffic safety construction projects already funded for the new fiscal year.

Total state cost to date is estimated at $5,729,000.
